“IN MEMORY OF ...
THE HANDI-HANDED WOMAN”

God gave her a life to live. You taught her how to love and give. You gave her everything she needed. You gave her those hands to help someone. You gave her enough love to give everyone.

SCHOOL IN ACTIONS

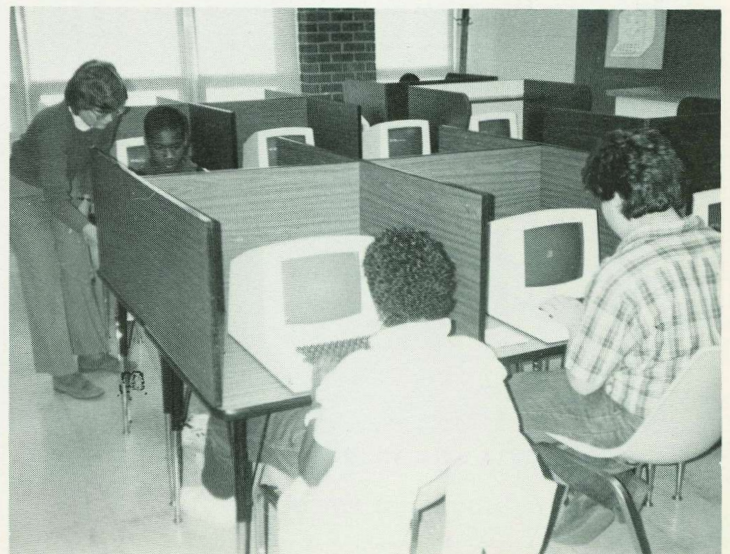

Three kids are watching Mrs. Faidley demonstrate the life form of a butterfly.

A perfect married couple.

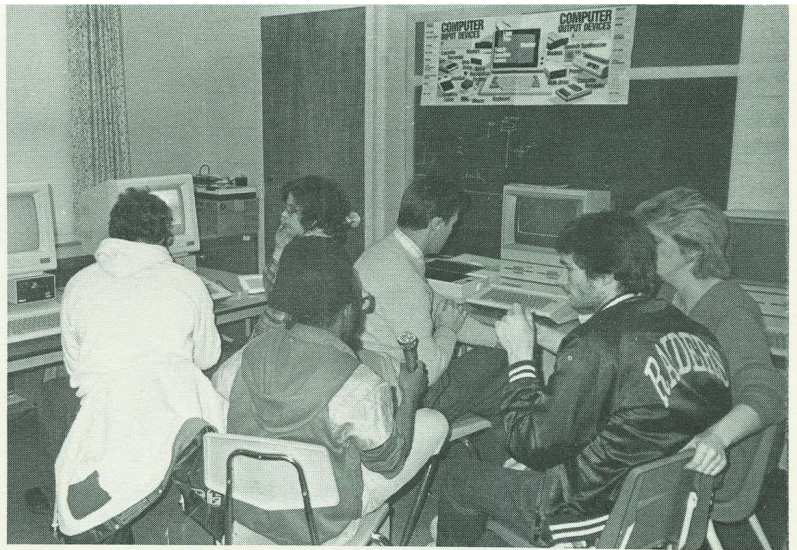

The children prepared the Jack-O-Lanterns.

Working on CAI.

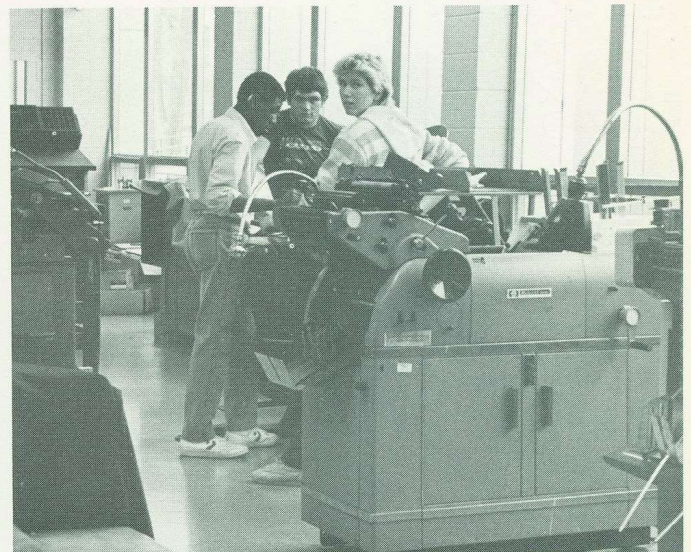

Getting ready for the next class.

Now, who broke the machine?

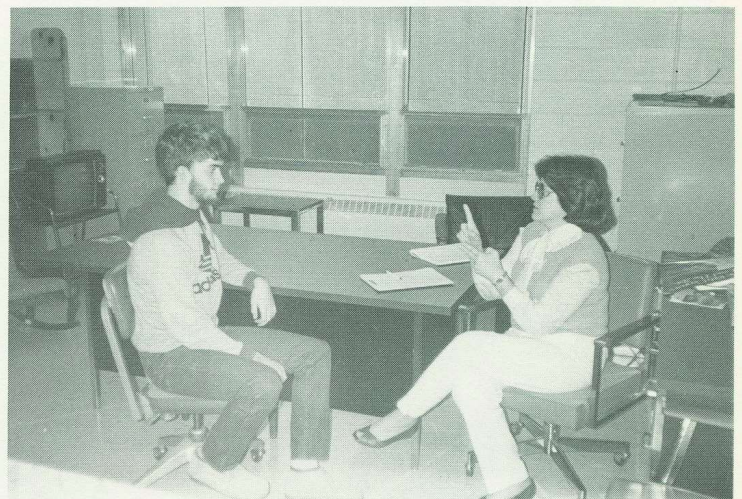

Working on the letter press.

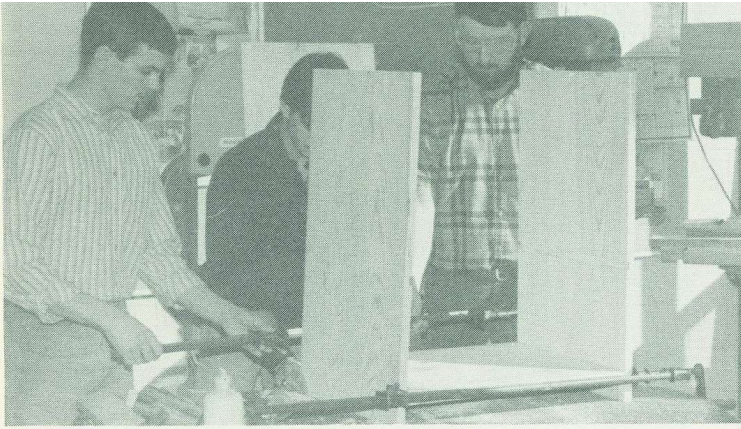

Wonder what they're looking for?

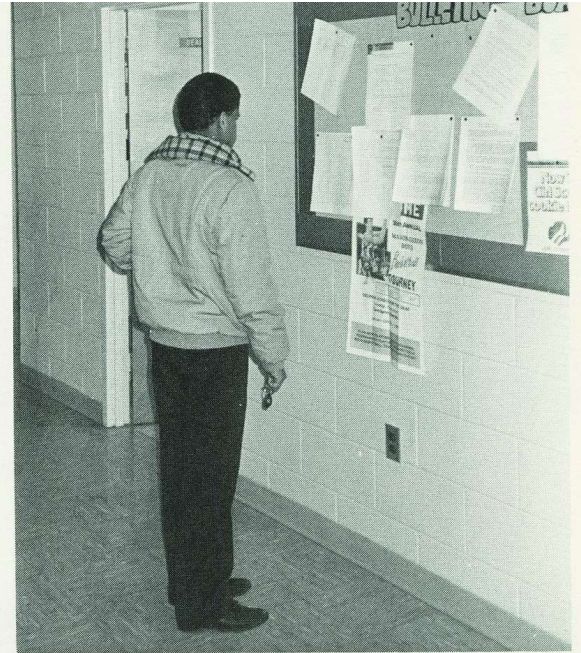

Experimenting with speech on a computer.

Timmy is discussing his future with Mrs. Caldwell of D.R.S.

Working on a project.

Matthew looking for a job.

Instructions on how to operate a computer.

A surprise reception for Mr. Yates.

What are they catching?

How to set up a tent.

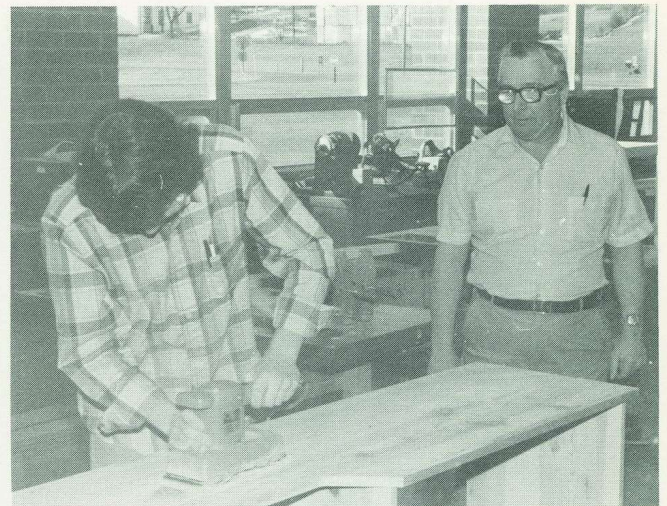

How to make a sleeping bag out of a blanket.

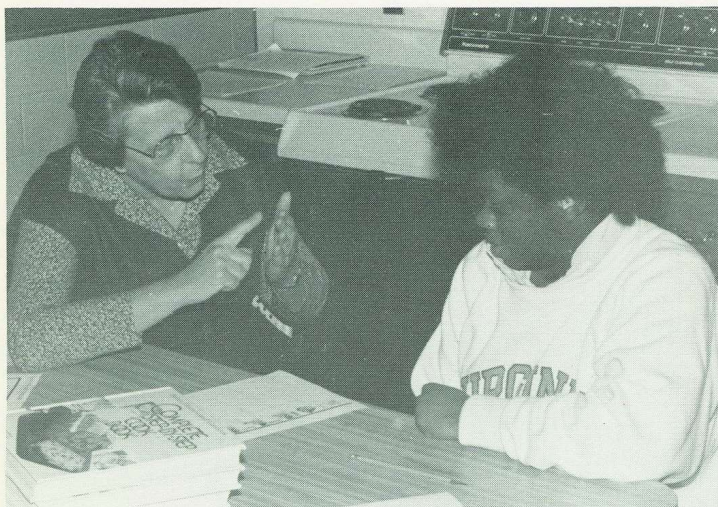

Mrs. Marzolf sure has a way of teaching.

Oh, so calm.

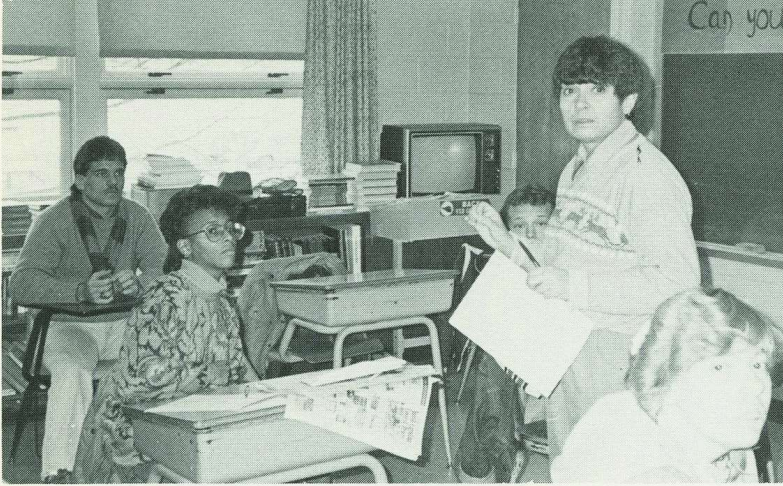

The watchful eye of Mr. Hayes.

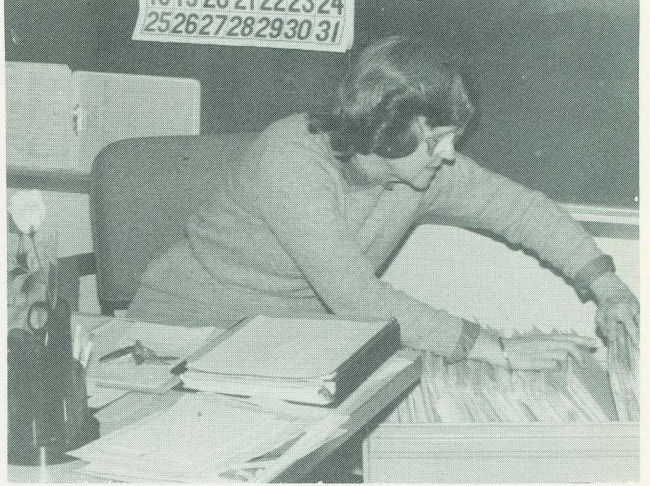

What?

Mrs. Rhodes, found treasure?

How unhappy can you get?

Let your fingers do the walking?

Where are the students going?

Raise your hand if you are using SURE.

A fun way to act it out.

What are they making?

AFTER SCHOOL

It is fun to ride a horse.

They are saying "On my honor ..."

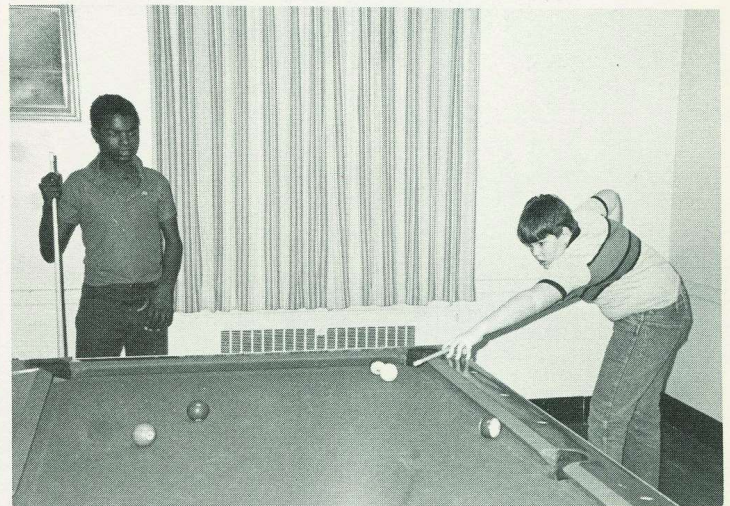

Who has the ball?

The senior class had a picnic.

Volleyball for all.

Is Kevin aiming for a pocket hole?

Are these bunch of kids working hard or are they just doing nothing?

The White Columns Staff has been working hard since last year for this yearbook. Due to mechanical problems at the Print Shop in VSDB, we were forced to send the yearbook materials to a publishing company in Missouri. We apologize for the inconveniences caused by the delay.

We, as the co-editor, would like to express our appreciation to Mr. Nelson for giving us advices and solving problems with the yearbook, Mr. Harner and Mr. Panella for letting us work on the yearbook during their class time, and Mr. Robertson for his help with photography. We would also like to thank the following members of the White Columns staff for their hard work: Judy Durrer, Brian Edwards, Latrice Jones, Rebecca Nelson, Chris Payne, Faithlyn Robinson, and Lily Taylor. It has been a good experience for us. We hope you will enjoy this yearbook.
